The Law Regulating Newspapers and Periodicals

1 Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions

2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their papers the publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid, the subscribers are responsible for all the numbers sent

3 If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible till they have settled the bills and ordered their papers discontinued

4 The Courts have decided that a refusal to take a newspaper or periodical from the Post Office with out notifying the publisher and the payment of all arrearages is prima facie evidence of fraud

Subscribers to newspapers or periodicals removing, are liable to pay so long as the paper or periodical may be sent to the residence of the party at the time of subscription unless notice is sent of such removal to the publication office

American & Foreign Patents.

R H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of the U S Patent Office Washington, (under the Act of 1837)

76 State Street, opposite Kilby Street, BOSTON

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years continues to secure Patents in the United States also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries Caveats Specifications Bonds, Assignments and all Papers or Drawings for Patents executed on liberal terms and with dispatch Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar Assignments recorded at Washington

The Agency is not only the largest in New England but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents of ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by if not immeasurably superior to any which can be offered them elsewhere The testimonials below given prove that none is more successful at the Patent Office than the subscriber and as success is the best proof of advantages and ability he would add that he has abundant reason to believe and can prove that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents

These besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe render him able beyond question to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors

TESTIMONIALS

"I regard Mr Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse CHARLES MASON Commissioner of Patents

I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office

EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents

"Mr R H EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications on all but one of which patents have been granted and that is now pending Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges

JOHN TAGGART

During eight months the subscriber in course of his large practice made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents R H EDDY

Great Inducements to Subscribers!

L. SCOTT & CO New York continue to publish the following leading British Periodicals viz

The London Quarterly (Conservative)

The Edinburgh Review, (Whig)

The North British Review, (Free Church)

The Westminster Review Liberal)

Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory)

The present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the forthcoming year They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news items crude speculations and flying rumors of the daily Journal and the ponderous Tome of the future historian written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events and as such in addition to their well established literary scientific and theological character we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public

The receipt of Advance Sheets from the British publishers gives additional value to these Reprints inasmuch as they can now be placed in the hands of subscribers about as soon as the original editions

THE NEWYORK TRIBUNE. LARGE PREMIUMS TO OUR FRIENDS

Heretofore we have never offered any one a premium to aid in the extension of the circulation of The Tribune We have printed the cheapest newspaper in the country, the outlay by which it is produced, that was ever issued in any country selling it for little more than the cost of the white paper in each copy sold to agents canvass for subscribers and have allowed no compensation (beyond a copy of our paper) to any of the thousands of generous friends who have annually taken care that the number of copies of our issue circulated in their neighborhood should be at least maintained and if possible increased We have been spared even formal thanks to those friends, but have one and all realized the fullness of our obligation for the earnest, unselfish painstaking personal efforts

We propose for the present season only—in view of the hardness of the times and the fact that we are unable to buy white paper somewhat cheaper than we have heretofore done or can hope to do after the close of the War—to make some small acknowledgment not so much a recompense as a slight testimonial to those friends who shall see fit to exert themselves to aid in obtaining (whether single or in clubs) renewals to our Weekly and Semi Weekly editions We do not know that we could offer anything at similar value more generally acceptable and useful than a Gold Pen of the best quality and finish We propose therefore to forward to each person who forms, the two months ending that sent us subscriptions and payments for The Tribune as follows

Bright emblem of Columbia's glory!
Shall tell to coming years the story,
How, stout of heart, and strong of hand,

On tented field, 'mid fearful strife,
Still on! still through the sulphurous cloud
It broke in triumph, Treason's shroud!

[For the Whig & Courier]

What does a wise Economy require of the present Legislature.

It is apparent that our Legislators, while contemplating the large expenditures occasioned by the war, and haunted with the idea of consequent heavy taxation in the future, have been brooding over various projects to save money in the State Treasury But it is somewhat remarkable after all this cogitation and investigation, that under the pretence of economy they should only propose to strike severe blows principally at Agriculture and Education

Hitherto each town has been required to raise by taxation an amount of money equal to sixty cents for each inhabitant, for the support of schools, and a Bank tax of $79 688 50 has been appropriated for the same purpose This Bank tax it is now proposed to divert into the Treasury

For the last five years, the State has paid an average amount of about $9,062 for the Board of Agriculture, Secretary's salary, report printing, and to the State and County Societies, or less than two cents apiece for each inhabitant of Maine for the encouragement of the farmers who bear more than three fifths of all public burdens, and are more deeply interested than all other classes in prudent disbursements yet this meagre sum it is proposed to withhold — This is no more economy than it would be if a farmer were to withhold his manure and seed at sowing time that he might be able to pay his taxes A provident care, a wise economy, would impel to foster agriculture, in every approved and practical method. It ought to be carefully considered, if it would not be a better policy to preserve at least the Secretary of the Board of Agriculture, and continue in existence the county agricultural societies until the storm of war be past Withdraw all aid, and many societies would be ruined, and the more active individual members who have got in debt for lands, inclosures and buildings, be leaving the State would bestow the annual bounty, would be seriously embarrassed The destruction of these associations would be a public calamity It needs no lengthy argument to prove that they have greatly benefitted the whole community for we have everywhere ocular demonstration of the fact Under their auspices a salutary emulation has been excited, intelligence has been diffused, a thirst for agricultural knowledge created, farms, gardens and orchards improved, wet lands and sandy plains reclaimed, more useful implements generally introduced, better buildings erected, domestic animals enhanced in value, and all the products of the farm greatly increased

By a comparison of the census returns for 1850 with those for 1860, we find the number of acres in farms in the State has increased from 2,063,596 to 2,677,126, or about 30 per cent — Value of farms in 1850, $54,801 748, in 1860, $76,688,520 an increase of 47 per cent Value of farm implements and machinery in 1850, $2,284,537, in 1860, $3,298,827, an increase of 44 per cent. Value of stock in 1850, $9,705,726, in 1860, $15,487 880, an increase of 59 per cent Value of slaughtered animals in 1850, $1,646,773, in 1860, $2,780,179 more than 68 per cent To produce these very desirable results, these societies have contributed their full share. For every dollar the State expends to encourage them, it receives in return 30, 40 or 60 fold "There is that scattereth and yet increaseth." Has the time now come, when the goose, which has laid these golden eggs, must be killed to defray the public expenses?

Our first President and the present alike recommend to foster the interests of agriculture, also Congress, notwithstanding the multiplicity of their engagements, and the cares of war pressing heavily upon them, has just established a Department of Agriculture, and appropriated the pecuniary means to support it, when there was not a dollar in the Treasury No cry of taxes has alarmed or deterred them.

When the rebel secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Memminger has had influence enough with his own townsmen in Charleston, S C, to persuade them to pay $500 more salary to a Yankee teacher to prevent his departure to Boston — Although the city was devastated with fire, and blockaded with stone, they could not afford, even in this great extremity, to neglect the interests of education Are we sunk so low in the necessity so imperious, even when we are far from the arena of war, and have hardly felt the shock of arms, that we must deal staggering blows at two such important interests, and discharge both Secretary of Agriculture and Superintendent of Schools? If it has come to this are there no some other officers that may be dispensed with, some other interests to be retrenched, some other privileges to be yielded? True economy is at all times very proper—its demands should ever be heeded—but it should be general in its operation, not partial and exclusive It is proposed to suspend the office of Assistant Land Agent, but might not more be saved by discharging the Land Agent himself, the State Treasurer, the Secretary of State and intrust their respective duties to the Assistant, (Mr Clark) the Clerk, (Mr Caldwell), and the Deputy Secretary, (Mr Moore)

No one will contend, after their long experience, that the latter are not perfectly competent, and cannot obtain the necessary bonds — The principals, it is true, are very acceptable, but will doubtless gracefully yield to the necessities of the times, "and the question now is, whether it is not our duty to throw them overboard to lighten the ship until she rides out the storm"

The Committees of the Legislature too, if each individual would write himself as he naturally would in the performance of his own private business, might dispense with their clerks Instead of having their printing done at one office for a series of years, it might be expedient to ascertain if it would not be cheaper to let it to the lowest bidder

If the Legislature would have the people believe them really in earnest, patriotic and disinterested, they will make haste to retrench their own pay and emoluments By laws they have enacted themselves they have fixed the mileage of jurors at five cents a mile, and of members of the Board of Agriculture at six cents This is ample to pay all travelling expenses by the present modes of conveyance, but their own mileage is ten cents If they would reduce this one half it would save the State annually some thousands of dollars

Biennial sessions might be substituted for annual, or the session might be materially shortened and the salaries reduced, without serious injury to the State Not long since a member moved that the Legislature adjourn at the expiration of fifty days, because in his opinion it each one worked with becoming diligence the business might be accomplished in that time but he proposition fell stillborn, for too many desired to speak to their constituents

Additional funds might be brought into the Treasury by taxing, in those towns and cities where Banks are located, the $1 500 000 of bank stock owned out of the State and also telegraph and other stocks standing in the names of foreign stockholders

While our legislators are in labor in respect to projected retrenchments, many of them at the same time seriously contemplate to vote the last six regiments enlisted and the four batteries a bounty of $22 for each man, although every such soldier entered the army on the express condition that he should only have the customary wages and no bounty of $100 at the end of the war from the general government If such an appropriation is made it would require an expenditure by the State of more than $1 000 000

Thus have been briefly suggested to the Legislature, some of the ways by which money may be saved from several sources so that the burdens of retrenchment may not press too heavily and exclusively on two particular interests but may be more equally divided among all and none be sacrificed A word to the wise is sufficient from

THE ART OF WAR By Baron de Jomini — Translated from the French by Capt G H Mendell and Lieut W P Craighill U S A Philadelphia J P Lippencott

For sale in Bangor by Bugbee & Co

This is one of the most valuable treatises upon war and military operations which has ever been published—it being a new edition of Jomini's work with appendices and maps illustrative of some of the most famous military movements in Europe General Jomini is Aide de Camp to the Emperor of Russia, and is admitted by all competent judges to be one of the ablest military critics and historians who has ever written upon the subject of war The information which the work is calculated and intended to disseminate among the people is very valuable and important in the circumstances in which our country is now placed

THE HISTORY OF THE FREEWILL BAPTISTS By Rev S D Stewart Dover, N H Freewill Baptist Printing House 1862

For sale in Bangor by A Bartlett

We have received the first volume of this work, embracing the period of time from 1780 to 1830 It is full of interest not only to the particular denomination whose rise and progress it chronicles, but to the general student of history The Freewill Baptists date their history from the establishment of the first church at New Durham, N H, in 1780, by the Rev Benjamin Randall, who was brought up a Calvinist, but afterwards changed his views and was disowned by the regular Baptists

THE SUMTER The Boston Post says that letters from Gibraltar of Jan. 15, have been received The privateer Sumter was in port at anchor She had not been out of the harbor since the 19th, the reports of her having been seen off Genoa to the contrary notwithstanding The ship was leaky, and her boilers were out of order No arrangements were known to have been made as to repairing them. No additional engines had been made. It is possible, however, that Capt Semmes was watching an opportunity to run some of the American vessels from a port (of which there were several) availing himself of a favorable wind to go to sea. [illegible] to London, the Sumter is reported, as still remaining [illegible] on the 20th.

Correspondence of the Whig & Courier

Augusta, Feb 14

I stated some time since that the several reports of the State officers had been submitted to the Legislature with the exception of that of the Adjutant General The delay in this case has been unavoidable It was considered desirable to bring up the Report to as late a date as was consistent with its proper presentation to the Legislature, in order that the history of our military organizations might be as complete as possible As I have before said, (in a former letter) the condition of the regiments in service will be brought up to December 1, 1861 Those which have been in camp at Augusta, for some time past, will be brought up to January 1, 1862 — The manuscript of the report was ready for the press about the first of January It was soon ascertained, however, that on account of its size, the available force of the Augusta offices could not produce the report in less than three months, therefore the work was distributed to four different offices — Cambridge, Portland, Hallowell and Augusta. The whole Report will not now be ready under about ten days, but as there is a great demand for the document Adjt General Hodsdon has concluded to have about two hundred and fifty copies bound up for the use of the members only, omitting Appendix "D," which will be delivered to-day—a copy of which I send you by mail

The whole Report will make a volume of about 900 pages octavo, minion type, elegantly printed For comprehensiveness of general arrangement, and completeness of details, it will successfully challenge comparison with that of any State of the Union It will be a standard book of reference on all matters connected with the organization of the volunteer force of this State and will save thousands of dollars to the families of soldiers in the shape of attorney's fees, by giving them all the information needed with reference to the military history of every man who has entered the service from this State thus far during the war

It would be utterly impossible in the brief limits of this letter, to give you anything like a satisfactory abstract of the contents of this volume

The Report opens with a very interesting statement of the condition of affairs State and National, when the rebellion broke out Then follows a history of the organization of the regiments and batteries, with the changes in the field and staff officers up to January 1st, a history of the allotment system remarks on the militia system of the State as it stood at the opening of the war Quartermaster's report remarks on small arms ordnance, quarters and barracks, provision for families of soldiers appointments hospitals, clothing transportation deserters &c &c

The mass of information which renders this report so valuable for reference is contained in the appendices the contents of which I will give you in general outline

App A—General and Special Orders and Instructions

App B—Alphabetical List of Officers in Commission

App C—Alphabetical List of Officers out of Commission

App D—Returns of Regiments and Corps which have been Called into Service

App E—Alphabetical Town List of Soldiers

App E—Exhibit of Regiments, Giving Number of Men in Each

App G—Tables One to Five Relating to Quartermaster's Department

App H—Return of Military Organization and Schedules of Military Property

App I—Census Tables, Exhibiting the whole Number of the Male Population of the State, from 21 Years upward, Classified

The industry and energy which has been exhibited by Adjutant General Hodsdon in accumulating the mass of information with which this volume is filled, is worthy of particular mention, and I hope that by giving copious extracts you will let your readers share largely in the satisfaction which you will enjoy in its perusal F

A GREATER THAN BULL RUN After our victory at Somerset the rebels continued their retreat till they reached Gainesboro the capital of Jackson county, Tenn It is one hundred miles from the battle field of Mill Spring All their arms, ammunition and equipments were thrown away in the headlong flight—and the panic communicating itself to the secession inhabitants along the roads, they too jumped on horseback and abandoned everything

REMARKABLE ACCIDENT A singular accident occurred at the Norway Iron Works in Boston, Tuesday night An immense fly wheel, weighing 38 000 pounds, and revolving at the rate of ninety revolutions a minute burst, scattering massive fragments in every direction and making wild work of the company's large building The cross timbers of the roof were cut and some 15,000 feet of it fell with an awful crash Only four men were in the building at the time, and they fortunately escaped injury The damage is estimated at about $10,000

A SPLENDID FLAG FOR THE THIRTEENTH REGIMENT The friends of Col Dow in New York have prepared, for presentation to him on the passage through that city, a very elegant Regimental Color It is of silk, elaborately painted, and one of the most expensive flags that have been got up during the war It contains views of Portland and Penobscot Bay, obtained by artists, sent to the localities expressly to sketch them It contains the arms of Maine with the legend Dirigo and a shield, under the shield, "13th Regiment Maine Volunteers, Col. Neal Dow" Over the star and legend, is the motto, "We strike for the Union and Man's birthright, Freedom." The cost of the color is understood to be five hundred dollars.

THE FLAG OF TATOR. The Washington correspondent of the N Y Journal of Commerce gives currency to the rumor that the late flag of truce from the rebels brought a proposition for peace, on condition that the North shall consent to separate, taking with them, Missouri, Kentucky, and part of Virginia. The recent operations in Tennessee river and Albemarle Sound constitute a [illegible]

THE DEMAND NOTE BILL. The New York World says that if the bill should become a law in the form in which it is now presented to the Senate, the safeguards against the depreciation of the treasury notes will not be the legal tender clause, but these provisions

I The limitation of their amount so that it shall at no time exceed $150,000,000

II Their exchangeability for six per cent stocks, with adequate security for the payment of the interest in coin

III Their receivability for all tax and government dues, the whole amount in circulation never being permitted to exceed one year's taxes

IV The fact that a limited but liberal amount of them can be deposited temporarily with the sub treasurers and draw five per cent interest

If these provisions shall have the force of law, and if, moreover, the taxes shall be sufficient and the war shall end within the year, the depreciation of the treasury notes probably will not be so great as to be ruinous

The secessionists in St Louis were badly frightened a few days ago by a report that Gen Halleck had telegraphed to the Secretary of War asking permission to send away, during the war about five hundred of the most noisy and troublesome of the rebels in St Louis, and that the reply was "five thousand, if necessary

A man in Troy has a county calf, which affects linen and cotton goods as an article of diet instead of dry hay The other night the animal got to work upon the contents of a clothes line, and swallowed his worth in sheets, towels shirts pocket handkerchiefs, &c He still lives

Senator Sumner's Resolutions declare that by the act of rebellion the governments of the Confederate States have committed felo de se and that all local institutions and legislation are consequently null and void Slavery, as a local institution, is abolished and as the negroes owe allegiance to the General Government, so the General Government in turn must protect those thus emancipated

From the N Y Tribune

The Turning Point.

The nation's destiny visibly hangs on the events of the next few weeks Our two noble armies of the republic are in motion, or wait but for favoring weather and roads to advance upon the strongholds of the rebellion — Fair good or even the long and sickening official delay of waiting to get ready is ended We are either about to beat the rebels or the world will conclude that we can never beat them, and act accordingly

We may beat the rebels without emancipation but if we must be so We must have accomplished deeds really to oppose to Louis Napoleon's threatened representations A discomfited waning visibly doomed rebellion was no foreign affair If the rebel army at Columbus is surrounded cut off from its resources and compelled to surrender or to re enact the role of Mill Spring while Thomas and Buell press forward to the liberation of East Tennessee, our foreign allies will speedily discover that they have made a mistake, and will withdraw from their unpromising enterprise Two months more they may have to fear commanded to retreat without palpable dishonor

The pressure of want and misery on the part of the Confederacy is fearful The rich are in part generally reduced to the bare necessaries of life while the poor are everywhere in rags, and most of them suffering for food Corn and fresh pork have long been their chief resources, the pork begins to fail while the scarcity of salt has prevented much preparation of cured meat for the warmer season already opening on the Gulf — The allotments of their best regiments are beginning to expire within a few weeks fifty thousand of them at least will set their faces homeward and no hundred thousand new levies can make good the deficiency As to the conscription now proceeding in some States and threatened in others we do not believe that the men it will send into the field will be worth the inevitable cost of arming and supporting them In the defense of a strong position the militia of the wilderness may be of some value but in an assaulting the varied requirements of a campaign they will be but a hinderance The conscription proves the desperation of the rebel cause but will not alleviate it the masses thus impressed to fight in the quarrel of a traitorous oligarchy will be slow to shed their blood for the cause whose triumph is their own permanent disenfranchisement and degradation

The Country—North and South—pines for peace This rebellion is based on lies—naked atrocious, inexcusable Two thirds of the men to day in the rebel armies would prefer to fight for the Union if they were only assured of the false impressions of Northern feelings and purposes with which the ignorance of the South has been abused and its worst passions inflamed for years Thousands have already been won, by contact with the Union soldiery to suspect that they have been misled In every country there are white men who dare not speak out but who secretly pray for the triumphant success of the Union armies One signal victory like the complete dispersion of the rebel army at Columbus, would convince thousands of the folly and madness of the rebellion, as they are already convinced of its iniquity Let, then, every dollar and every musket every energy, be devoted to the sole work of putting down the rebellion and the next 4th of July shall see us as one more united and happy people

Colonel Forney writes to the Philadelphia Press that—

The arrest of General Stone was not unexpected by those who had known his strong secession proclivities His conduct at the battle of Ball's Bluff, which resulted in the massacre of the gallant Baker and his heroic band, and the manner in which he attempted to throw out Senator Sumner for criticising his military policy in the Senate, would have led to his almost immediate rejection had he not been previously confirmed, at the called session, for the office of Brigadier General

The fact is, there are too many of the officers particularly of the regular army, who, while fighting against the rebels, do not hesitate to indulge in expressions of conditional or qualified patriotism This class is composed of those who have had intimate associations with Southern society, and are well inoculated with the heresy of State rights They talk flippantly of abolitionists and Black Republicans, and are particularly addicted to complimenting the rebel leaders.

The sympathizers with secession in private life have been greatly assisted and encouraged by the example of half hearted officers of the regular army, and it was high time for the Secretary of War to give them an admonition that will not fail to be effective

A Methodist minister at the West, living on a small salary, was greatly troubled to get his quarterly instalment. He at last told the non-paying trustees that he must have his money, as his family was suffering for the necessaries of life. "Money!" replied the steward, "you preach for money? I bought you preached for the good of souls." "Sure," responded the reverend, "I can't read Greek and Hebrew if I could, it would take a thousand such to pay for a meal."

MISSING VESSEL Schooner Langdon Bellfast, Capt Eben P Bramhall from Wilmington for New York with granite left Portland on the 21st of December and has not been heard from since She was deeply laden with granite and from what we can learn in reference to the vessel and her crew is of the cause of great anxiety to their many friends and relatives Still we have little doubt that she put in under the lee of the succeeding gale by Captain Bramhall's advice and is now at Belfast

[Dispatches to the Evening Papers]

The Official Account of Burnside's Success—3000 Rebel Prisoners Taken—Edenton Occupied Without Opposition—State of Affairs in Tennessee—Another Union Victory—The Capture of Springfield, Missouri.

FORTRESS MONROE, 13th

The gunboat Stars and Stripes arrived at noon from Burnside's expedition with a bearer of despatches for the Government. He reports the rout of the rebels complete Three thousand prisoners were captured All their gunboats were burnt or captured, except one which escaped by a canal The Federal killed is 42, and wounded also at 140

The rebel killed is about 80, and their wounded less than 100

The advance from Hatteras took place on Wednesday morning the expedition consisting of about sixty vessels The fleet anchored off Stumpy Point that night, and the next day proceeded to the entrance of Croatan Sound

After a reconnoissance, the fight commenced Friday the Underwriter leading the column The rebel fleet was attacked, and dispersed in half an hour by a portion of our navy, while the remainder attacked the land batteries The fight continued until dark

During the night 10,000 men were landed Saturday morning 7,000 were advanced A masked battery of three guns was soon discovered by our skirmishers, who attacked it in front and on both flanks The 21st, 25th, 27th 5th and 51st New York and 10th Connecticut suffered most severely The fight lasted two or three hours, when the battery was abandoned

Our troops pursued, and surrounded the rebel camps, and took nearly the whole command prisoners C Jennings Wise was wounded, being twice shot while endeavoring to escape in a boat

Colonel Russell of the 10th Connecticut was killed at the head of his regiment Lieut Col Xavier de Monteil, of the D'Epineul Zouaves, who volunteered, was also killed No other officer was killed above the rank of lieutenant

We took between 2000 and 3000 prisoners They were about being sent to New York by the S R Spaulding and other steamers Among them are about twelve or fifteen colonels, lieutenant colonels and majors

On Saturday afternoon a fleet of fifteen gun boats started for Elizabeth City, which was shelled, and after having been evacuated and partially burned by the rebels, was occupied All the rebel fleet was burnt or sunk, except two, the Roanoke and Beaufort, which escaped by a canal The Sea Bird, which was the flag ship of Commodore Lynch, was run down and boarded, and he gallant commodore escaped to the shore by swimming

News from Elizabeth City was received at Roanoke Island Monday evening, and the Stars and Stripes left Tuesday morning She struck on the bar at Hatteras on Tuesday night, but started again in the morning, arriving here about noon to-day She brings a bearer of despatches from General Burnside and Commodore Goldsboro She will take a cargo of ammunition, and return immediately

General Wise was at Nag's Head, and succeeded in escaping to Norfolk

The rebels made no fight after being driven from their batteries, which was done by Hawkins's Zouaves and the 21st Massachusetts regiment

Elizabeth City was about half burnt by the rebel soldiers The people sent off a deputation to Commodore Goldsboro', asking him to send forces to assist in extinguishing flames

Elenton was taken possession of on Wednesday by Commodore Goldsboro' without opposition

The Norfolk and Richmond papers attribute the loss of Roanoke Island to the blundering inefficiency of the navy They persist in asserting that nearly 1000 Federals were killed They charge a Roanoke Island farmer with deserting and piloting the Yankees to the only point where they could effect a landing on the island, being flanked on all sides by an extensive marsh

Despatches from Memphis to Norfolk announce that the Federal flag was cheered on the Tennessee river by the people, and assert tha the Federals neither seized nor destroyed any private property, not even cotton

Governor Letcher has issued an order for the formation of Home Guards for Norfolk, Petersburg and Richmond

One hundred released Federal prisoners will reach Old Point on Friday or Saturday

NEW YORK, 14th

The Tribune's Washington despatch, says, on the Adjutant General's recommendation, Congress will probably soon authorize the regular recruiting officers to pay the recruits at the time of enlistment $20 of the $100 which the law assures him at the end of his term of service

It is probable that an important command will be given to General Fremont, and for reasons of obvious fitness the troops assigned to him will be exclusively Germans.

BALTIMORE, 14th

The Richmond Despatch says Our Tennessee exchanges give us gloomy apprehensions for the future in that part of the Confederacy Several leading journals intimate plainly that there is really a threatening state of affairs in East Tennessee, growing out of the idolatrous love of these people for the old Union

A correspondent of the Memphis Avalanche writes that the condition of the interior counties is not improved by lapse of time The people apprehend an immediate advance of the Northern men, and traitors to the South evince their joy in every village and neighborhood

The Unionists are making demonstrations in many of the northern counties, and even at Memphis there were exhibitions of joy at the arrival of the news from Beech Grove Armed bands of Johnson and Maynard's followers are prowling about in all directions through the mountains

In remote counties many have been shot at night in their own houses, who adhered to the fortunes of the South

PORTLAND, 14th

The portion of Mussey's Row on Middle street, including the small Music Hall, fell in this morning in consequence of the weight of snow on the roof The walls above the second story falling into the street No one injured

ST LOUIS, 14th

Springfield has been captured. Our flag floats over it Our cavalry are pursuing the rebels

WASHINGTON, 14th

A special messenger arrived this morning, bringing the following despatches

U S Flag-ship Philadelphia,
Off Roanoke Island, February 9th

Roanoke Island is ours Its military authorities struck to us yesterday Their means of defence were truly formidable, and were used with a determination worthy of a better cause They consisted of two elaborately constructed works mounting twenty two heavy guns, three being 100 pounders rifled, and other batteries mounting 20 guns, a large proportion of these also being of heavy calibre and some rifled, and eight steamers of two guns each and each with a rifled gun with the diameter of a 32-pounder We encountered a prolonged obstruction of sunken vessels and piles to thwart our advance. A body of men numbering scarcely less than 6000 are now our prisoners

Fighting commenced on the morning of the 7th, at 7 o'clock, and continued until dark It was resumed next morning, early, lasting until well into the afternoon, when by a bold charge of our army the rebels flag was made to succumb, and our own was hoisted everywhere on the Island No attack could have been more completely executed, and it was carried out precisely in accordance with the arrangements made before the expedition left Hatteras

Detailed accounts of the naval operations will be forwarded hereafter I submit herewith a general order to be read on the quarter deck of each vessel Respectfully,

(Signed) J M GOLDSBOROUGH

To Hon Gideon Welles.

The general order is as follows "Your efforts of yesterday and the day before, against the enemy were alike worthy of yourselves and the sacred cause our glorious flag upholds I thank you for them and congratulate you upon the results achieved No commander in chief could have been more gallantly sustained or could have deserved a more gratifying display of coolness, skill and discipline We have got more work of the kind to accomplish and will soon deliver another blow to crush the hydra of rebellion From what I have already understood, I am sure you will do it well

(Signed,) J M GOLDSBOROUGH

Hon Gideon Welles, Secretary of the Navy

SIR Just as I closed my despatch to you yesterday, I received reliable information that the rebel steamers which escaped had gone to Elizabeth City I immediately ordered Commander Rowan to take thirteen of our steamers and go in pursuit, also to destroy up the North river a link of the Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal — He dashed off with a whole heart at his work, and the way he has already accomplished the first part of it his preliminary report will inform you I have decided to send the Stars and Stripes to Hampton Roads to-morrow for ammunition Mr Van Brunt, my Secretary, will deliver the despatches and two rebel flags to you (Signed,)

J M GOLDSBOROUGH

ST LOUIS, 14th

The following has been forwarded to General McClellan The flag of the Union floats over the Court House at Springfield The enemy retreated after a short engagement, leaving a large amount of stores and equipage, which was captured by Gen Curtis Our cavalry are in close pursuit

(Signed) H W HALLECK

PHILADELPHIA, 14th

The Inquirer's Fortress Monroe despatch states that the rebels were pursued several hours, and two complete regiments on their way to reinforce Roanoke Island were captured Every road was laden with guns, knapsacks, clothing, wounded, dead and dying Ex Gov Wise escaped from Nag's Head, but his son was shot through both legs and the lungs He died the following day Acting Brig Gen Hill, Cols Shaw, Jordan and Green were captured, with a large number of subordinates

The rebels fired Elizabeth City in retreating The Federal Gunboat Commodore Perry, ran down the rebel flag ship Sea Bird, having on board Com Lynch cutting her apart Our men boarded her pell mell During the encounter a portion of her officers and crew jumped overboard, others had their brains knocked out with handspikes, which were freely used Later rebel accounts state that Lynch has not yet been heard from—probably drowned

From official despatches to the navy department it is ascertained that the gunboat Itasca, on the 19th of January captured the schooner Lizzie Weston of 294 tons, with 202 bales of cotton, bound to Jamaica She was sent to Philadelphia

HEADQUARTERS, Dep't N C,
Roanoke Island, Feb 20

Major General Geo B McClellan, Commanding U S Army, Washington —

General I have the honor to report that a combined attack on this island was commenced on the morning of the 7th, by the naval and military forces of this expedition, which has resulted in the capture of six forts, 4 guns over 2000 prisoners and upwards of 2000 small arms Among the prisoners are Col Shair, commander of the Island, and O Jennings Wise, commander of the Wise Legion The latter was mortally wounded, and has since died

The whole work was accomplished on the afternoon of the 8th, after a hard day's fighting by a brilliant charge in the centre of the Island and a rapid pursuit of the enemy to the north end and resulting in the capture of the prisoners above mentioned We have had no time to count them, but the number is estimated at near 2000

Our men fought bravely and have endured most manfully the hardships inside it to fighting through swamps and dense thickets It is impossible to give the details of the engagement or to mention the names of meritorious officers and men, in the short time allowed for writing this report The naval vessel carrying it starts immediately for Hampton Roads and the reports of the Brigadier Generals have not yet been handed in It is enough to say that the officers and men of both arms of the service have fought gallantly, and the plans agreed upon before leaving Hatteras were carried out I will be excused for saying in reference to the sailors that I owe everything to Gens Foster, Reno and Parke as more full details will show

I am sorry to report the loss of about 5 killed and about 200 wounded, ten of them probably mortally

Among the killed are Col Russell of the 10th Connecticut, and Lieut Col Victor de Monteil of the D'Epineuil Zouaves Both of them fought gallantly

I regret exceedingly not being able to send a full report of the killed and wounded, but will send a dispatch in a day or two with full returns

I beg leave to enclose a copy of general order issued by me on the 9th

I am most happy to say that I have just received a message from Commodore Goldsboro', stating that the expedition of his gunboats against Elizabeth city and the rebel fleet has been entirely successful. He will, of course, send his returns to his department

I have the honor to be General,
Your most obedient servant,
(Signed) A E BURNSIDE,
Brig General Commanding Dep't of N C

WASHINGTON, 14th

A private letter written on board the gunboat Stars and Stripes, February 13th, says

"After the cannonading of the enemy's batteries by our naval force, a landing of the military commenced about 4½ o'clock on Friday evening, at Ashley's harbor, about two and a half miles below the rebel Fort Barton of nine 32 pounders. The landing was effected under cover of two of our gunboats, the Delaware and More, which, with the Shepherd, drove away and dispersed two rebel regiments that were stationed there with three field pieces to oppose their landing Our men were up to their middle in mud and water in landing Wasn't on shore they found the three rebel pieces in the morass

By 9 o'clock P M, that night, Gen Burnside had landed 6000 men, and continued landing them through the night at the rate of one thousand per hour

The land movement against the enemy's batteries was commenced early Saturday morning, the fleet meantime engaging and silencing a shore battery opposite it, our forces advancing in the direction of the battery in the centre of the island The rebels were soon driven behind their intrenchments, where they resisted Eight mortars were landed from the fleet to serve as our field artillery

About midday the Hawkins Zouaves and the 10th Connecticut regiment, under Gen Foster, made a dashing bayonet charge upon the battery commanded by young Wise, wading knee-deep through mud and water to get at them, and yelling like so many Indians

Meanwhile a detour was made on the right by General Reno, and on the left by General Foster This attack from three sides decided the fate of the day The rebels fled from their intrenchments before the array of cold steel brought to bear against them The Hawkins Zouaves leaped the first distance impetuously, the rebels fled. Young Wise was not wounded here, as despatches say, but received a wounds in endeavoring to escape from the island in a boat from Shallow Bay Battery This was first fired on, and its occupants fled Colonels and one Lieut Colonel prisoners, Gunboats [illegible] gun

After the reduction of the battery in the centre of the island, General Reno and Parke took a force of men and went down to Fort Barton, Colonel Hill in command, and took undisputed possession of it It had been the principal point of two days' bombardment by our troops.

At 4 45 on the afternoon of Saturday, the American flag was displayed from the battery General Foster then pursued the rebels to the north end of the island, where was also in camp or drawn up, a Virginia regiment that had been towed down in six schooners from the main land early Saturday morning General Foster approached, and had an interview with the rebel commander, Colonel Shaw of North Carolina, who asked him what terms he would extend General Foster replied, "An unconditional surrender" and consented to give him time to return to his men, and decide or not to accede to the demand

The rebel officer had hardly reached his men, when the Massachusetts 24th, burning with impatience, sprang forward in the direction of the enemy, when Colonel Shaw immediately raised a white handkerchief as a signal that the rebels had concluded to surrender

The rebels had proposed to cut off our passage by a "chevaux de frise" of stakes extending from the main land entirely across the head of Roanoke Island, but our gunboats steered their way through, and commenced the impetuous pursuit of the enemy's fleet, which had been drawn up behind this barricade

CHICAGO, 14th

A special to the Tribune, dated "Camp in the field, near Fort Donelson, Feb 13th, 12 M," says Fort Donelson is invested by our troops — Our lines are formed from right to left, and from North to South, nearly surrounding the fort

A heavy cannonading and skirmishing have been going on since half past 7 o'clock this morning but owing to the extent of our lines of action, but little can be learned of the result I hear however, that the captain of company E, 7th Illinois Regiment has been killed

Gen McClernand's division is operating on the right wing, and Gen Smith on the left We have had but one gunboat to play upon the fort until just within the last half hour, since when the other gunboats have been firing on the fort The force estimated to be within the breastworks, from the best information is about 15,000 No reinforcement can arrive, as all communication is cut off

It is now thought that their left redoubt has fallen into our hands

All the officers are acting with great valor, exhibiting a fearlessness highly creditable to our western army Gen Grant and staff have been riding along the lines all the morning, regardless of the grapeshot that is being showered in every direction

1 o'clock, 8 p m —The cannonading and skirmishing has continued briskly all day, but has been lately discontinued

A considerable number have been wounded on both sides The 20th Indiana, which rushed boldly up to the entrenchments have during the day had forty of their men wounded—all slightly

The 17th Illinois, and 7th Iowa, who have been close to the enemy's fire, have lost some men

Among the killed is Capt Wardell of company I 7th Ill., and Col Morrison of the 49th Illinois is wounded

Berger's sharpshooters have done good service They kept several of the enemy's guns idle by picking off the cannoneers as fast as they approached the guns

Capt Bisuk, with a company of cavalry went around to the left bank of the river this afternoon and report that the gunboat Carondelet received a ten inch all though her casemate, which wounded 8 men, but did not injure the boat materially

Capt Walker of the Carondelet says he has driven dismounted three of the rebel river guns The other gunboats had not arrived to 6 P M

Incessant rifle shots and grape have been flying about fast about here all day Some six shots struck around General Grant and staff this afternoon while they were riding along the lines One bullet hit one of the horses of the body guard near by

The fort will be stormed in two days if not surrendered before that time

Our men have driven back the enemy at every instance

Generals Pillow Floyd Johnston and Buckner are said to be here.

One company has been within 75 yards of the enemy's intrenchments

ST LOUIS, 14th

The Democrat's Cairo special says the fight at Fort Donelson commenced at 9 yesterday forenoon and during the day the rebels were driven out of the fort three times, and forced back again by General Grant

The gunboat Carondelet had been struck but twice up to noon yesterday A battery of five pieces opposite the river opened fire on her during her approach to Fort Donelson

The steamer Alps arrived here with the wounded of the Carondelet, some of them severely hurt by splinters The Alps met Commodore Foote thirty miles below Donelson with gunboats Louisville Conestoga, Tyler, St Louis and Pittsburg, and towed the two latter within 25 miles of the fort, where she left them at 8 o'clock this morning

St Louis specials to the Republican and Democrat, dated Fort Donelson last night, say that up to that time our loss was about 20 killed and 250 wounded The right wing of our army reste within 60 yards of the rebel redoubt, the enemy having been driven one mile

Twenty rebels were killed in skirmishing company G Berges' Sharp Shooters

Capt Cater got within 70 yards of the rebel battery and completely silenced it during the entire afternoon, by killing every man who attempted to work the guns. Desperate advances were made on the redoubts by the 17th and 49th Illinois regiments under Col Morrison of the latter regiment

They made two gallant charges, getting close to the enemys' breastworks, but were obliged to retire in both instances under a heavy cross fire of infantry and artillery Both regiment suffered considerable Col Morrison was severely wounded

WASHINGTON, 14

The heavy firing by the Confederate batteries on the Potomac is at passing vessels, but none are struck

Yesterday afternoon our pickets near Mount Vernon saw two men leave the Virginia shore and go on board a small sloop which was anchored in the stream The fact was reported to the officer of the day, and a detachment was immediately sent off to board the sloop. The sloop was done and a number of letters were discovered to and from parties in Dixie, and among them one of a treasonable nature. One of them is said to contain a very complete description of our lines of defence on the Potomac The two men were arrested

CHICAGO, 14

A special despatch to the Journal from Fort Henry 12th says that the expedition under command of Col Riggin, returned to Fort Henry to-day from up Tennessee river, having captured seventy five thousand dollars worth of contraband goods at Paris, Tennessee They also found the tents and camp equipage of the troops who left Fort Henry

The troops have moved from here and will probably attack Fort Donelson.

The Navy department has received voluminous despatches from Port Royal They consist mainly of accounts of explorations, allusion to which have already been published It appears that considerable supplies of cotton may still be found on Edisto Island, if a reconnoissance there should be made Negroes report there are small quantities of cotton hidden in various localities, and unginned crops are to be found on nearly all of the plantations on Edisto Island, the soldiers not having been there to burn the cotton houses as they did on the opposite shore on the arrival of the Pawnee accompanied by the Seneca The dispatches say it worthy of note as indicating the change in the black — That now they express themselves most anxious to obtain arms The black man, who has general superintendence of the colony, wished to land his forces in Rockville and drive the rebel soldiers back, expressing the utmost confidence that with about 20 old muskets that they picked up, many of them with flint locks, he would be able to effect his object

Mr Wilkinson said he could not go to the people of Minnesota after voting to sanction a transaction giving to one man more money than has been paid to all her soldiers What encouragement have the people to give up their hard earnings if we allow officers of the government to pay them out in such large sums to personal friends

Mr Fessenden here reported back the Legislative Apportion bill with several amendments

The naval committee's report was laid on the table

The case of Mr Starke was taken up and postponed until Tuesday

HOUSE

Mr Sedgwick of New Jersey offered an amendment appropriating fifteen millions for additional gunboats, and said the navy would give full value for the money expended He referred to Hatteras Fort Henry, Port Royal Roanoke Island and Elizabeth City to show what had been done The navy will take every fortified place on the Southern coast in less than four months, if you will furnish the means

Mr Wickliffe of Kentucky said he was perfectly satisfied with the gunboats, and thought more would be necessary before the war was over

Messrs Dunn of Indiana, Kelly of Pennsylvania, and Davis of Pennsylvania favored the appropriation, saying its adoption would do more to secure peace than ten times the sum expended in the army

Considerable debate followed, when the amendment was adopted, 118 to 2

An amendment was also adopted appropriating fifty thousand dollars for an ice or lance foundry at Washington, and one million for ordnance

The bill then passed

Mr Hickman of Pennsylvania moved that Mr Wyckoff be brought before the bar of the House to be released, he having purged himself of contempt

The Speaker said he could be discharged by the terms of the resolution as he had answered the questions of the committee

Mr Stevens of Pennsylvania said he would like to know what his answer was

Mr Hickman said it would be furnished to the House at the proper time

Mr Crittenden from the Select Committee, reported favorably on both houses meeting on the 22d of February, and hearing Washington's Farewell Address read Adopted unanimously

The joint resolutions for the relief of the loyal Indians were passed

The House then went into committee of the whole on the Post Office appropriation bill and Mr McPherson of Pennsylvania addressed the House on the constitution of the country

LATER
All Political Prisoners Released.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
Washington, 14th

Executive Order in Relation to State Prisoners No 1 The breaking out of a formidable insurrection, based on a conflict of political ideas, brings an event without precedent in the United States, was necessarily attended with great confusion and perplexity of the public mind Disloyalty before unsuspected, suddenly became bold, and treason astonished the whole world by bringing at once into the field military forces superior in numbers to the whole standing army of the United States In every department of the Government defection appeared, in the Senate, in the House of Representatives, in the Cabinet and in the Federal courts, and Consuls returned from foreign countries to enter the insurrectionary councils in the land or naval forces Commanding and other officers in the army and in the navy betrayed the councils or deserted their posts for commands in the insurgents' forces Treason was flagrant in the Post Office service, as well as in the Territorial Governments and in the Indian reserves Not only good judges, legislators and ministerial officers in the States, but even whole States rushed, one after another, with apparent unanimity into rebellion The capital was besieged and its connection with all the States cut off Even in the portions of the country which were most loyal, political combinations and secret societies were found furthering the work of disunion, which, from motives of disloyalty or cupidity, or from excited passions or perverted sympathies, individuals were found furnishing means, money, materials of war and supplies to the insurgents Military and naval forces, armed ships, fortifications, navy yards, arsenals, military posts and garrisons one after another, were betrayed or abandoned to the insurgents

Congress had not anticipated and so had not provided for the emergency The municipal authorities were powerless and inactive The judicial machinery seemed as if it had been designed not to sustain the Government but to embarrass and betray it Foreign intervention was openly invited and industriously instigated by the abettors of the insurrection, and it became imminent, and was only prevented by the practice of strict and impartial justice, with the most perfect moderation in our intercourse with other nations The public mind was alarmed and apprehensive It seemed to be doubtful whether the Federal Government, which one year ago had been thought a model worthy of universal acceptance, had indeed the ability to maintain and defend itself, Some reverses which, perhaps, were inconsiderable in themselves, suffered by newly levied and insufficient forces discouraged the loyal and gave new hopes to the insurgents Voluntary enlistments seemed to cease, and dissertion commenced Parties speculated upon the question whether conscription had not become necessary to fill up the army of the United States In this emergency the President felt it his duty to employ with energy the extraordinary powers which the Constitution confides to him in cases of insurrection He called into the field such military and naval forces authorized by existing laws, and seemed necessary He directed measure to prevent the use of the Post Office for any treasonable correspondence — He subjected to and from foreign countries a new passport regulation, and he instituted a blockade, suspended the habeas corpus in various places and caused persons who were represented to him as being engaged or about to engage in disloyal and treasonable practices to be arrested by special and civil as well as military agencies, and detained in military custody When necessary to prevent them and deter others from such practices, examinations of such cases were instituted, and some of the persons so arrested have been discharged from time to time under circumstances or upon conditions compatible, as was thought with the public safety Meantime a favorable change of public opinion has occurred The line between loyalty and disloyalty is plainly defined The whole structure of the Government is firm and stable, apprehensions of public danger and the like for treasonable practices have diminished with the papers which prompted the heedless persons to adopt them The insurrection is believed to have culminated and to be declining

The President, in view of these facts, and anxious to favor a return to the normal course of the administration, as far as regards faith and the public welfare will allow directs that all political prisoners now held in military custody, be released on their subscribing a parole engaging them to render no aid or comfort to enemies in hostility to the United States

The Secretary of war will hereafter, in his discretion, except from the effect of this order, any persons detained as spies in the service of the insurgents, or others whose release at the present moment may be deemed incompatible with the public safety To all persons who shall be so released, and shall keep their parole, the President grants an amnesty for any past offense of treason or disloyalty which they may have committed

Extraordinary arrests will hereafter be made under direction of the military authorities alone

By order of the President
[Signed] EDWIN M STANTON,
Secretary of War
